Special Issue: Forest Soils and Ecosystem Sustainability. Selected and edited papers from the Ninth North American Forest Soils Conference held at Tahoe City, California, USA, 9–14 August 1998

Editorial 1

Belowground processes in forest-ecosystem biogeochemical simulation models
P.S. Homann (Bellingham, WA, USA), R.B. McKane and P. Sollins (Corvallis, OR, USA). 3

Soil organic matter processes: characterization by ^{13}C NMR and ^{14}C measurements
S.A. Quideau, M.A. Anderson, R.C. Graham (Riverside, CA, USA), O.A. Chadwick (Santa Barbara, CA, USA) and S.E. Trumbore (Irvine, CA, USA) 19

Comparison of the behavior of soluble organic and inorganic nutrients in forest soils
R.G. Qualls (Reno, NV, USA). 29

Effects of temperature and moisture on carbon respired from decomposing woody roots
H. Chen, M.E. Harmon, R.P. Griffiths and W. Hicks (Corvallis, OR, USA) 51

Nutrient inputs in litterfall and rainwater fluxes in 27-year old red, black and white spruce plantations in Central Ontario, Canada
A.M. Gordon (Guelph, Canada), C. Chourmouzis (Vancouver, Canada) and A.G. Gordon (Sault Ste. Marie, Canada) 65

Scaling up or scaling down: the use of foliage and soil information for optimising the phosphate nutrition of radiata pine
T.W. Payn, M.F. Skinner (Rotorua, New Zealand), R.B. Hill (Lincoln, New Zealand), A.J. Thorn (Rotorua, New Zealand), J. Scott (Rotorua, New Zealand), S. Downs (Tokoroa, New Zealand) and H. Chapman (Rotorua, New Zealand). 79

The nutrient cycling model: lessons learned
D.W. Johnson (Reno, NV, USA), T. Sogn and S. Kvindesland (Ås, Norway) 91

Quantitative site and soil descriptors to improve the utility of forest soil surveys
D.A. O'Connell, P.J. Ryan (Kingston, Australia), N.J. McKenzie and A.J. Ringrose-Voase (Canberra, Australia). 107

Soil–landscape resource assessment for plantations — a conceptual framework towards an explicit multi-scale approach
R.N. Thwaites (St Lucia, Australia) and B.K. Slater (Columbus, OH, USA). 123

Integrating forest soils information across scales: spatial prediction of soil properties under Australian forests
P.J. Ryan (Kingston, Australia), N.J. McKenzie (Canberra, Australia), D. O'Connell (Albany, Australia), A.N. Loughhead, P.M. Leppert (Kingston, Australia), D. Jacquier and L. Ashton (Canberra, Australia). 139

Elemental storage of forest soil from local to global scales
P.J. Zinke and A.G. Stangenberger (Berkeley, CA, USA) 159

Effects of extensive forest management on soil productivity
D.F. Grigal (St. Paul, MN, USA). 167

Sustained productivity in intensively managed forest plantations
T.R. Fox (Yulee, FL, USA). 187

Response of radiata pine forests to residue management and fertilisation across a fertility gradient in New Zealand
C.T. Smith (College Station, TX, USA), A.T. Lowe, M.F. Skinner, P.N. Beets (Rotorua, New Zealand), S.H. Schoenholtz (Mississippi State, MS, USA) and S. Fang (Nanjing, China). 203

Additional carbon sequestration following repeated urea fertilization of second-growth Douglas-fir stands in western Washington
J.D. Canary (Fairbanks, AK, USA), R.B. Harrison (Seattle, WA, USA), J.E. Compton (Corvallis, OR, USA) and H.N. Chappell (Warren, AR, USA) 225

Legacies of agriculture and forest regrowth in the nitrogen of old-field soils
D.D. Richter (Durham, NC, USA), D. Markewitz (Durham, NC, USA and Athens, GA, USA), P.R. Heine

(Durham, NC, USA), V. Jin, J. Raikes (Durham, NC, USA and Athens, GA, USA), K. Tian (Durham, NC, USA and Kunming, China) and C.G. Wells (Research Triangle Park, NC, USA) 233
Nutrient availability and regeneration response after partial cutting and site preparation in eastern white pine
D. Burgess (Victoria, Canada) and S. Wetzel (Marie, Canada) 249
Effects of selection harvest and prescribed fire on the soil nitrogen status of ponderosa pine forests
T.H. DeLuca and K.L. Zouhar (Missoula, MT, USA) 263
Challenges of measuring forest floor organic matter dynamics:. Repeated measures from a chronosequence
R.D. Yanai (Syracuse, NY, USA), M.A. Arthur (Lexington, KY, USA), T.G. Siccama (New Haven, CT, USA) and C.A. Federer (Durham, NH, USA) 273
Long-term effects of forest management on nutrient cycling in spruce-fir forests
R.D. Briggs (Syracuse, NY, USA), J.W. Hornbeck (Durham, NH, USA), C.T. Smith (College Station, TX, USA), R.C. Lemin Jr. (Old Town, HE, USA) and M.L. McCormack Jr. (Deer Isle, ME, USA) 285
Impact of harvesting and atmospheric pollution on nutrient depletion of eastern US hardwood forests
M.B. Adams (Parsons, WV, USA), J.A. Burger (Blacksburg, VA, USA), A.B. Jenkins (Summersville, WV, USA) and L. Zelazny (Blacksburg, VA, USA) 301
Cumulative management impacts on soil physical properties and early growth of Pinus radiata
S.T. Lacey (Beecroft, Australia) and P.J. Ryan (Kingston, Australia) 321
A review of chemical and physical properties as indicators of forest soil quality: challenges and opportunities
S.H. Schoenholtz (Mississippi State, MS, USA), H. Van Miegroet (Logan, UT, USA) and J.A. Burger (Blacksburg, VA, USA) 335
Biological indices of soil quality: an ecosystem case study of their use
J.D. Knoepp, D.C. Coleman (Otto, NC, USA), D.A. Crossley Jr. (Athens, GA, USA) and J.S. Clark (Durham, NC, USA). . . 357
Agricultural site productivity: principles derived from long-term experiments and their implications for intensively managed forests
E.D. Vance (Research Triangle Park, NC, USA) 369
Soil solution and other soil analyses as indicators of nutrient supply: a review
P.J. Smethurst (Hobart, Australia) 397
Simulations of pre- and post-harvest soil temperature, soil moisture, and snowpack for jack pine: comparison with field observations
J.S. Bhatti (Edmonton, Canada), R.L. Fleming, N.W. Foster (Sault Ste Marie,, Canada), F.-R. Meng, C.P.A. Bourque and P.A. Arp (Fredericton, Canada) 413
Soil properties important to the restoration of a Shasta red fir barrens in the Siskiyou Mountains
N.C. Vance (Corvallis, OR, USA) and J.A. Entry (Kimberly, ID, USA) 427
Productivity of loblolly pine as affected by decomposing root systems
D.H. Van Lear, P.R. Kapeluck and W.D. Carroll (Clemson, SC, USA) 435
Soil quality standards and guidelines for forest sustainability in northwestern North America
D. Page-Dumroese (Moscow, ID, USA), M. Jurgensen (Houghton, MI, USA), W. Elliot, T. Rice (Moscow, ID, USA), J. Nesser (Missoula, MT, USA), T. Collins (Ogden, UT, USA) and R. Meurisse (Portland, OR, USA) 445
